The facts of the case are: The Provincial Bank of India Ltd. was a Company incorporated and registered in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore with branches in the province of Bombay. The Company has been ordered to be wound up by the High Court of Bombay on a petition from a creditor, and the Official Liquidator appointed by that Court has taken charge of the assets, books of account and papers of the Bank in Bangalore and other places. The Registrar of Companies in the Station took objection to the Official Liquidator taking possession of the books of the Bank in the Station without the authority of the Station Court.

The correspondence reveals the misconception under which the Official Liquidator and the Bombay High Court were labouring in considering that the Station was a part of British India. The position of the Station as explained by the Registrar in his letter dated the 30th January 1940 seems correct; but since certain modifications have been made in applying the Indian Companies Act, 1913, to the Station, it is necessary to consider the question raised by the Official Liquidator in some detail.

ø Cor. p. 11

Item No. 76 of Ka. Ch. S. Bar A. of I. Order.

3

The Official Liquidator wants to know whether the Companies Act has been made applicable to the Station and whether an order for winding up a Company passed by a High Court in British India would be treated as a valid and binding order by a Civil Court in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore. To answer this query it is necessary to consider the scope of the Indian Companies Act in force in British India and of the Act in force in the Station.

Sec 2(1)(2)

British India. It may be noticed that 'Company' has been defined in the Act as a Company formed and registered under the Act and that Part V regulates the winding up of such a Company. Section 270 states that an 'unregistered company' is and a company registered outside British India but doing business in British India is treated in British India as an unregistered company. Part IX regulates the winding up of unregistered companies.

company'

A company having its registered office in one province and branches in other provinces in British India can be wound up by the Court of the Province in which the registered office is situate - section 3 of the Act. An order for or in the course of winding up a company (registered) passed in one place in British India can be enforced in other places by the Courts in those places on production of a certified copy of the order - sections 200 and 201 of the Act. An unregistered Company can be wound up in British India by the Court within whose jurisdiction the principal place of business of the company is situate - section 271(1)(i) of the Act. After it is ordered to be wound up such a company will be deemed to be a company registered under the Act - section 276 - , and the provisions of sections 200 and 201 will apply to orders passed in the proceedings for its winding up. Hence under the Indian Companies Act in force in British India the orders of a Court winding up a company registered or unregistered in British India can be enforced throughout British India.

Station. In the Station also a company either registered or unregistered can be wound up by the Court, and part V or IX, as the case may be, will regulate such winding up. But an order of the Station Court has force only in the Station and it cannot be enforced in British India. A company registered outside the Station even if it is incorporated and registered in British India can be wound up in the Station as an unregistered company.

Section 200 of the Act as applied to the Station has been modified to read as follows: "Any order made by a ~~court~~ court in British India for or in the course of winding up a company shall be enforced in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore by the Court that would have had jurisdiction in respect of such a company if the registered office of the company had been situate at the said Station, and in the same manner in all respects as if such order had been made by the Court that is hereby required to enforce the same". It seems that this section will be applicable in the Station under the same circumstances as section 200 of the Act as in force in British India is applicable to offices of companies in provinces other than that in which the company is ordered to be wound up either under section 162 or section 271. An order winding up a company registered in British India which has branches in the Station can be enforced in the Station. Similarly orders for or in winding up a company registered outside British India (not being the Station) having places of business in British India and the Station can be enforced in the Station, e.g. a bank registered in Travancore. To this extent the question of the Official Liquidator can be answered in the affirmative.

8. The applicability of section 200 of the Act in force in the Station to the case of the Provincial Bank of India is very doubtful. The Bank being registered outside British India could have been wound up in Bombay only as an unregistered company under section 271. According to the Act in force in British India the order can only affect and relate to the branches of the Bank in British India and its assets there. If the registered office of the Bank were to be in any province other than Bombay, the company could have been wound up exclusively by the Court within whose jurisdiction the registered office was situate. The place of registration is important because the company has its domicile there though it may have branches in other places and the company will continue to exist even though the branches are wound up. The winding up of a branch outside the province in which the company is ~~xituxtx~~ registered cannot obviously affect the existence of the registered office. That section 200 is not applicable to the case of the Provincial Bank is also clear from the wording of that section as modified. The order has to be enforced by the Court that would have had jurisdiction in respect of the company if the registered office of the company had been situate in the said Station. The registered office of the company is in fact in the Station and the section cannot therefore apply to the present case. The Court which has jurisdiction to wind up the Bank in the Station is none other than the District Court of the Station. The Official Liquidator does not therefore appear to have had the requisite authority to take possession of the assets of the Bank in the Station without a winding up order by the Station Court.

9 Even if there had been a branch of the Bank in the Station, and not the registered office, the order of the High Court of Bombay could have been enforced in the Station only through the Station Court in accordance with the procedure prescribed by section 201 of the Act. In any case, therefore, the Official Liquidator was bound to move the Station Court before he took charge of the assets and books of the Bank in the Station. Draft submitted.

Are not the main points, 1) the registered office is in B'lore 2) B'lore is not in K.G. 3) under Sect 3 the Bombay High Court has no jurisdiction to wind up a company where regd. office is outside its jurisdiction. Does not Sect 200 assume that the first Court has jurisdiction over the place where the regd. office is?

As all

11

Reference para 10: The registered office is in Bangalore. If Bangalore had been in British India, the winding up order could have been passed only by the Bangalore Court, for under the Act the Court having jurisdiction is the Court within whose jirisdiction the registered office is situate. The Bank having been regis-tered outside British India could have been wound up in Bombay only as an unregistered company under section 271. As regards point (3), if the registered office of the company were situate outside British India and if only a Branch were situate in Bombay, that High Court could order the company to be wound up as an unregistered company - section 271(1)(i). As stated in para 8, the place of registration is important because the company has its domicile there. According to section 200 a Court has jurisdiction in respect of a company if the registered office of the company is situate in that place But an order for winding up passed by such a Court can be enforced by other Courts in British India, and also by the Courts in the Station under the Act as applied, provided ofcourse the registered office of the company is not in the Station. LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT
Diary No. 234

Sir,

I have the honour to request you to let me know whether the Indian Companies Act has been made applicable to the Civil and Military Station, Bangalore, and whether an Order for winding up of a Company passed by a High Court in British India would be treated as a valid and binding Order by a Civil Court in the Civil and Military Station at Bangalore.

These questions have become necessary inasmuch as a Bank named the Provincial Bank of India Ltd., which had its Head Office at and was registered at Bangalore was ordered to be wound up by the Bombay High Court on a creditor's petition. The Bank had 16 branches among them was a branch at Bombay. I, as Court Liquidator, High Court, Bombay, have been appointed Official Liquidator of the said Bank and as such took charge of the assets, books of account and papers belonging to the said Bank both at Bangalore and at the other places. Some months after this, the Registrar of Companies at Bangalore wrote to me a letter dated 30th January 1940 calling upon me to apply for a winding up Order by the Court at Bangalore. I placed this matter before the Judge of the Bombay High Court then dealing in the Companies matters and he directed that no such proceedings were necessary as the Bangalore was in the British India. I wrote to the Registrar of Companies at Bangalore in terms of the said Order, but he by his letter dated the 30th January 1940. he pointed out that the Court at Bangalore was not in the British India but is an administered Area in the Mysore Mysore State over which jurisdiction is exercised by H. E. the Crown Representative and that it was necessary for me to obtain an Order for winding up from that Court. In this particular - - matter I have got assets of a very small value and the amount due to the creditors is comparatively large, hence I am not --- inclined to spend any money if it could possibly be avoided. In my opinion, the starting and carrying of the operations by the - Bank was an act of swindle on the part of Mr.Thakker, whose - - whereabouts I am not able to get.

I feel that the making of an application for winding up before the Court in Bangalore and the consequent making of an Order are absolutely unnecessary so far as the interests of any of the creditors are concerned.

I am sorry to have to trouble you with this inquiry, but as I could not get this information from any other source I thought the best thing would be to see whether you would - - enlighten me on this subject. The peculiar circumstances of this case are my only excuse for troubling you.

I enclose herewith the correspondence which took place between me and the Registrar of Companies at Bangalore.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

I am directed to refer to your letter dated the 4th March 1940 addressed to the Legislative Department of the Government of India and forwarded by them to this Residency for disposal. The Indian Companies Act, 1913, has been applied to the Civil and Military Station, Bangalore, subject to certain modifications, an extract of which is enclosed. It may be seen that under section 200 of the Act, as modified, an order made by a court in British India for or in the course of winding up a company is valid and binding in the Station in cases where the registered office of the company is situate in a place other than the Station. As the Provincial Bank of India was a company registered in the Station, it appears you should, as stated by the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies in his letter dated the 30th January 1940, move the Courts in the Station. It is suggested, however, that you should obtain legal advice in the matter.

In continuation of this office letter No. 3633 dated 20th March 1941, I have the honour to write that a further sum of Rs. 282/12/0 has been collected since 20/3/41, thus making the total collection of outstanding amount to Rs. 1,215/12/0 leaving a net balance of Rs. 3200/15/0 and of this cases amounting to Rs.1245/8/0 are pending with the Government Pleader for recovery.

Out of the balance of Rs. 1955/7/0 left, a sum of Rs. 993/8/0 as per statement attached needs to be written off since it is considered irrecoverable due either to the parties not being traceable, deceased, or too poor to pay. I consider that there is the least possibility of the amounts being recovered and therefore request that the items in the statement may be written off from the accounts.

Further action is being taken on the balance of Rs. 961/15/0. There is a likelihood of a major portion of the items being recovered, and it is therefore desirable to keep open the arrears for some more time.

Subject :—

SIR,

With reference to para 3 of this office letter No.616-75/1 dated the 26th May 1941, I have the honour to state that a sum of Rs.374-8-0 has since been collected.

As per statement attached a sum of Rs.998-2-0 requires to be written off since it is considered irrecoverable due either to the parties not being traceable, deceased, or too poor to pay. Of this Rs.923-8-0 relates to the outstandings up to 1939-40, i.e., audited accounts and Rs.74-10-0 to the year 1940-41. I consider that there is the least possibility of the amounts being recovered and therefore request that the items in the statement may be written off from the books.

The audited accounts include a sum of Rs.280-8-0 due from persons of enemy origin who are now in detention camps. If it is possible to recover the amount through the Government of India, Political Department, full particulars of the dues will be furnished to enable you to move the Government of India in the matter. If this is not possible steps will be taken in due course for the write off of these amounts also along with such other items that may be considered irrecoverable by the end of the year.

In this connection, I would like to mention that the receipts for 40-41 and for 9 months ending 31st December 1941 (41-42) are Rs.39495/- and Rs.32448/- and the outstandings on this date for the relative periods only 371-6-0 and 477/-, major portion of which is likely to be recovered.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient Servant,

Lieut-Col. I.M.S.,
RESIDENCY SURGEON, BANGALORE.
